THE OPIOID EPIDEMIC IN INDIANA

Linking Municipal Officials to Information and Resources

Thursday, February 15 • 9:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.
 Ritz Charles • Carmel Ballroom
 12156 N. Meridian Street • Carmel, IN 46032

9:30 a.m. - 10:00 a.m.	Registration	1:15 p.m. - 2:00 p.m.	How some Indiana Communities are Addressing One Key Driver of Indiana's Opioid Addiction Crisis The ease by which Hoosiers are obtaining opioids is widely thought to be one root cause driving the rapid growth in our state's addicted population. Through the legal system, some municipalities are seeking to insert accountability among opioid manufacturers and distributors.
10:00 a.m. - 10:10 a.m.	Welcome	2:00 p.m. - 2:45 p.m.	Reviewing Indiana's Treatment Options and How to Find Them Access to treatment has been identified as a huge obstacle for those seeking help. Indiana has many resources and more on the way. How can you help your constituents access existing services and what can you do to grow capacity in your community? Experts in inpatient, outpatient and post-treatment will talk through efficacy and availability of all treatment options to give you the answers you need.
10:10 a.m. - 10:30 a.m.	A Call to Action A personal family crisis lead Nashville Mayor Megan Berry to rally the Nation's municipal officials to use their influence to make a meaningful difference and save lives. Participants will hear her story and learn how the National League of Cities has worked to become a resource; helping local officials feel empowered to get engaged.	2:45 p.m. - 3:00 p.m.	Break
10:30 a.m. - 11:15 a.m.	Defining the Crisis Using Data and Community Impact Creating useful opioid addiction and overdose datasets is a priority for Governor Holcomb. There is, however, some national and statewide information available to demonstrate the growing nature of this epidemic. Attendees will also receive information to assist with defining the impact opioid addition is having on our state and its municipalities, particularly in the area of maintaining an available, quality workforce.	3:00 p.m. - 4:00 p.m.	The Children of the Crisis One of the most heartbreaking results of Indiana's opioid crisis are the children of drug-addicted parents who have either succumbed to their addiction or those still mired in the fight for their sobriety. Attendees will learn of the resources available to these children and the generous relatives or foster families who are providing much needed love and care.
11:15 a.m. - 12:15 p.m.	Public Health Crisis and Life-Saving Measures Knowing the critical information about the crisis is the first step in working with your community. Attendees will learn about the issue in general, how we arrived here, the contributors, and risk factors. To address the growing number of overdoses, arming first responders with life-saving addiction treatments such as naloxone has become paramount. This session will also discuss the signs of an opioid overdose, how naloxone works, and the multi-faceted solutions model that is applied to reduce the effects of the crisis.	4:00 p.m. - 4:30 p.m.	Municipal Perspectives & Personal Experiences We'll end our day with a candid discussion among attendees regarding the tough questions, personal experiences and best practices happening in cities and towns across Indiana.
12:15 p.m. - 1:15 p.m.	Luncheon and Remarks Justin Phillips, Executive Director and Founder, Overdose Lifeline, Inc.
